COOKIE POLICY

Version 1.0

Internal note: The final version will depend on the type of cookies to be deployed, which you will have to indicate to us, whether they are first-party or third-party, as well as the cookie consent manager that you integrate.

1. INTRODUCTION

This Cookie Policy explains how ATEBIZ ("Company", "we", "our") uses cookies and similar technologies when you visit our websites, customer portals and other online services associated with NEXTREPORTING.

This Policy should be read together with our Privacy Notice.

Unless otherwise indicated, references to "cookies" also include similar technologies such as pixels, local storage objects, software development kits (SDKs), tags, scripts and comparable tracking technologies capable of storing or retrieving information from a user's device.

2. WHAT ARE COOKIES?

Cookies are small text files placed on your device when you visit a website.

Cookies enable websites and online services to recognise devices, remember preferences, improve security, analyse usage, measure performance and, where appropriate, personalise content and communications.

Some cookies remain active only for the duration of your browsing session, while others remain stored for longer periods depending upon their purpose and configuration.

3. WHY WE USE COOKIES

We use cookies only where they are necessary for legitimate technical purposes or where you have provided the consent required under applicable law.

Cookies may be used to ensure the secure operation of our websites, maintain user sessions, authenticate authorised users, remember preferences, improve website functionality, understand how visitors interact with our digital services, identify technical issues, enhance performance and support our marketing activities where permitted.

We do not use cookies to make automated decisions producing legal or similarly significant effects.

4. TYPES OF COOKIES

The cookies used on our websites fall into several categories depending upon their purpose.

Strictly Necessary Cookies are essential for the operation, security and functionality of the website. These cookies cannot be disabled through the consent management platform because the website would not function correctly without them.

Preference Cookies remember choices made by users, such as language preferences or interface settings, in order to provide a more consistent browsing experience.

Analytics Cookies enable us to understand how visitors use our websites, allowing us to improve performance, usability and content. These cookies are deployed only where required consent has been obtained.

Marketing Cookies may be used to measure the effectiveness of campaigns, personalise communications and understand interactions with our marketing activities. Such cookies are activated only where consent has been provided.

Third-Party Cookies may be placed by carefully selected service providers supporting functionalities such as analytics, embedded content, customer support, communications or marketing.

5. LEGAL BASIS

Strictly Necessary Cookies are processed on the basis of our legitimate interest in providing secure and functional online services or because such cookies are technically necessary for the provision of a service explicitly requested by the user. All other cookies requiring consent under applicable law are deployed only after the user has granted valid consent through our Consent Management Platform.

Users may withdraw or modify their consent at any time without affecting the lawfulness of processing carried out before consent was withdrawn.

6. CONSENT MANAGEMENT

We use a Consent Management Platform ("CMP") to enable users to manage their cookie preferences.

Upon the user's first visit, the CMP presents clear information regarding the categories of cookies used and enables users to accept, reject or configure non-essential cookies.

Consent records are securely maintained for evidential purposes in accordance with applicable legal requirements.

Users may review or modify their preferences at any time through the cookie settings available on our websites.

7. THIRD-PARTY SERVICES

Some functionalities available through our websites may rely upon services provided by carefully selected third parties.

Where such services deploy cookies or similar technologies, the processing of Personal Data remains subject to the privacy policies of the relevant third parties in addition to this Policy.

The Company carefully evaluates third-party providers before integrating their services and seeks to ensure that appropriate contractual and technical safeguards are implemented where Personal Data is processed.

8. INTERNATIONAL DATA TRANSFERS

Certain third-party providers whose technologies are deployed through our websites may process information from countries located outside the European Economic Area.

Whenever Personal Data collected through cookies is transferred internationally, we ensure that appropriate safeguards are implemented in accordance with Chapter V GDPR.

Depending upon the circumstances, such safeguards may include adequacy decisions adopted by the European Commission, Standard Contractual Clauses, supplementary technical measures and transfer risk assessments.

Further information concerning international transfers may be obtained by contacting us using the details provided in our Privacy Notice.

9. COOKIE INVENTORY

For operational and compliance reasons, the inventory of cookies deployed through our websites is generated dynamically by our Consent Management Platform.

The inventory identifies each cookie, its provider, purpose, duration, legal basis and applicable category.

Because third-party technologies evolve continuously, the dynamically generated inventory shall prevail over any illustrative examples that may appear within this Policy.

10. CHANGES TO THIS POLICY

We may update this Cookie Policy from time to time in order to reflect changes in applicable legislation, regulatory guidance, technological developments or modifications affecting our websites and online services.

The latest version shall always be available through our websites together with its effective date.
